Subject: Monthly Financial/Tax Regulations Summary in Turkey (November 2020)

Distinguished readers,

We would like to submit the important tax-related and financial issues that occurred within the last month in Turkey.

We are here with the financial / tax regulations that took place in November. First of all, we could say that a very rapid financial agenda occurred with the opening of the Turkish Grand National Assembly.

The legislative agenda started intensively with the Employment Omnibus Law, amendments in Technopolis and R&D Laws, new regulations on Clean Energy and a new Law on Agriculture, tax amnesty proposals including tax debt restructuring in order to ease tax payment capacity decrease because of the Covid-19.

In addition, there are important developments in transfer pricing reporting (Cbcr) in Turkey. The first report should be submitted in December 2020.

You can visit our website (www.taxia.com.tr) designed to support and inform the business society, employees and all stakeholders. We hope that you will benefit and enjoy our newsletters.

Let's briefly start with the headings and then examine the details. We will submit information about economics in general, and latest figures in labor, inflation, economics, main tax developments, customs and foreign trade, social security obligations, banking and financial issues, postponed obligations, R&D and incentives below.

E. R&D and Incentives

Turkey proposes lots of different incentives for the majority businesses such as SME, R&D firms and exporters. There are some legislative changes summarized below on those issues.

- The Turkish Statistical Institute released the “Research and Development Activities for 2019” report and revealed Turkey's latest R&D spending to GDP ratio.
 - Accordingly, Turkey's R&D expenditure to GDP ratio rose to 1.06 percent in 2019. The Turkish private sector provided 64.2 percent of the country's whole R&D expense and 56.3 percent of its financing.
 - In addition, the amount allocated for R&D activities by the Turkish government reached TRY 14.9 billion in 2019, read TurkStat report.

- New Incentives Programs for Agricultural Projects were announced by the Ministry of Agriculture in order to promote agricultural production and inclusion of youth and women on the economy.
- Technology Development Zones Law Proposal is being discussed in the Turkish Grand National Assembly, and important changes are foreseen regarding R&D and Technopolis processes. The Law is still in the Parliament
 - Including the time spent outside in R&D-design centers and techno parks (applications within the scope of flexible work including the pandemic) within the scope of incentives (between 20% and 50%), including the employment of doctoral students within the scope of support, the R&D / Design tax discount amounts subject to tax exemption (2% and an upper limit) to be kept in the fund for a certain period of time and to be allocated to other venture companies as capital, to expand the scope of basic sciences graduate support provided by the state, to support the mentoring and lectures of the Ph.D.) and to increase the amounts related to Venture Capital support are important steps taken specifically.
 - Extending R&D tax incentive supports to 2028 (originally 2023), increasing the rate of support personnel from 10% to 20% in companies with fewer personnel, clarifying whether income tax withholding incentives are exemptions, accrual / cancellation, and to whom this incentive is given, master license etc. The elimination of the condition of having worked for at least one year during the time spent outside for the trainings and the fact that the inspections will be carried out every 3 years instead of 2 years have been facilitating regulations. Explanatory and additional arrangements were made in some articles in the Commission.
 - You can access these changes and all the details on the subject in our bulletin 2020-114 and 2020/121 or ask our innovation and incentives experts.

F. Banking & Finance

- CBRT published its Financial Stability Report dated November 2020 and report number with 31.
 - In the report, main factors related to finance, non-financial and financial sector, international developments and macroeconomic outlook, exchange rate, liquidity, interest and credit risks are discussed in detail.
- The method of determining the maximum interest rates for credit card transactions was updated by the CBRT.
- CBRT has updated the Reserve Requirements
 - According to the Press Release, in line with its main objective of price stability, the Central Bank of the Republic of Turkey (CBRT) revised the reserve requirement regulation to improve the effectiveness of monetary transmission mechanism.

- To enhance transparency, predictability and effectiveness of the monetary policy, with the Monetary Policy Committee Decision of 19 November 2020, the operational framework of the liquidity management was changed to provide all short-term funding through the policy rate, and the monetary policy was tightened through an increase in the policy rate in line with the main objective of price stability. This time, the CBRT decided to simplify the reserve requirement regulation to increase the effectiveness of the monetary transmission mechanism.
- Accordingly, it has been decided by CBRT;
 - to repeal the reserve requirement practice that links the reserve requirement ratios and remuneration rates to real loan growth rates,
 - to apply the same reserve requirement ratios and remuneration rates to all banks,
 - accordingly, to set Turkish lira and FX reserve requirement ratios:
- Press Release and changes on Turkish Lira Liquidity Management by CBRT
 - In order to simplify the operational framework of the monetary policy, starting from 20 November 2020, the funding currently provided by the Central Bank via traditional method repo auctions with one month maturity and late liquidity window facilities will instead be provided via quantity repo auctions with one-week maturity, which constitute the principal monetary policy tool of the Central Bank.
 - Within the scope of liquidity management operations, to limit the volatility that may occur in the secondary market overnight interest rates and to ensure a balanced distribution of liquidity among different days of the week, for a one-week transition period, the overnight lending interest rate will be set as the policy rate of 15% from 20 November 2020 to 26 November 2020 (including these dates).

G. Other Legislative Changes in Turkey

- (2/3133) Law on the Establishment of the Environment Agency Proposals and Amending Law will be held in the Parliamentary General Assembly
